Welcome North Carolina Maritime Museum

Thank you, in advance, for considering the North Carolina Maritime Museum in Beaufort for your next group outing.

The North Carolina Maritime Museum hosts over 200 groups every year and looks forward to your group's visit. Groups are invited to schedule a visit during normal museum hours. There is no admission fee, but there is a charge for some programs and field trips.

The mission of the North Carolina Maritime Museum in Beaufort is to collect, preserve, research, document, and interpret the maritime history, culture and environment of Coastal North Carolina.

The mission of the North Carolina Maritime Museum's Education Department is to offer visitors the opportunity to learn about the natural and maritime history of coastal North Carolina through creative, hands-on experiences. Programs are offered year-round ranging from one hour to nine days long.

One of the best ways to prepare for your group's visit to the NC Maritime Museum is by making an advance museum visit on your own. When you book a field trip by calling 252-504-7743, please let your educator know if you would like to meet with him/her prior to group's visit to tour the museum and review the materials.

Museum Scavenger Hunts

Most Popular Program!

The North Carolina Maritime Museum offers three levels of a museum scavenger hunt for grades K-12. Each student is supplied with a clipboard, pencil and a copy of the grade-appropriate scavenger hunt. The scavenger hunts will lead the students through all the museum exhibits, and once they have completed the hunts students will be rewarded with either a museum sticker or maritime stamp. Teachers are welcome to supply their own rewards. While the students are encouraged to take their scavenger hunts home, they will be required to leave the pencils and clipboards for future groups to use.

One teacher or chaperone responsible for discipline while in the museum must be assigned to every 10 students. There are no exceptions. Unsupervised students and unruly groups will be asked to leave with their group leader.

Pirate Hooks & Peg Legs*

Students are invited to the museum to explore the world of pirates! Following a story about a boy who joined a pirate crew, everyone will get to make their own pirate hats and explore what is inside a pirate treasure chest (it isn't just gold and jewels!). Ideal Group: Pre-Kindergarten-3rd Grade

Hatteras Jack*

What sound does a dolphin make? Can a whale sing? How do they breathe? Students are invited to the museum for this free hour-long program where they will have the chance to hear a story about the legendary Hatteras Jack and smell the oil from a sperm whale. Children will also have the chance to touch the heart of the museum's own 33.5-foot juvenile sperm whale named "Echo".

Group Size: 30 participants (maximum)

Fee: Free. Donations appreciated.
Ideal Group: Pre-Kindergarten to 3rd Grade

Boats that Float*

"Will it float or will it sink?"

Students will learn to judge different items (cannon ball, toy boats, spoons, etc.) and decide if they float or sink before testing their 'hypothesis' with a VERY scientific experiment: They drop their items into a pool of water. Following their experimentation with floating items the students will be treated to a story about a very special toy boat. After learning about different types of boats and different items that float, students will get the chance to make their very own toy blow boats from kits made at the museum's Watercraft Center. Depending on the weather the students may even be invited to try their new boats out in a small pool on the museum's front patio.

Fee: $25 per group
Ideal Group: Pre-Kindergarten to 3rd Grade

a guided tour of the museum's exhibit about commercial fishing in North Carolina. Visitors who participate in this tour will also have the opportunity to touch the preserved heart of a sperm whale, smell the oil that whalers spent lifetimes hunting for, and win their very own replica whale tooth!

The Best View in Beaufort

The North Carolina Maritime Museum in Beaufort is proud to host one of the highest observation decks on Front Street, giving us what we think is the BEST view in Beaufort! From the museum's observation deck visitors are able to see sites such as the Rachel Carson Reserve, Fort Macon State Park and on clear days as far as the Cape Lookout Lighthouse.

The observation deck is only accessible by a winding staircase similar to the staircase of a lighthouse, but significantly shorter. Larger groups are welcome to sign up for this program but are asked to split into multiple, smaller groups.

Duration: 20 to 30 minutes
Fee: Free. Donations appreciated.
Ideal Group: 4th Grade to Adult

The exhibit tour is a walking tour that lasts 20-30 minutes. Depending on availability this program can also be supplemented with either a Q&A session with David Moore, nautical archeologist with the project to recover the remains of Queen Anne's Revenge, or archeology activity in the museum's auditorium.
